

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A mobile telephone station is disclosed having a receptacle comprising a bottom and one or more upstanding sides defining a compartment configured to removably receive a mobile telephone through a top opening. The receptacle may have one or more clips for retaining a battery charger cord. The receptacle may have stabilizing means for mounting the receptacle or supporting it on a surface. The station may further comprise an accessory secured to the receptacle, the accessory comprising one or more of a picture frame, message board, key holder, and pen and paper holder, as desired.

IM-452319_2.DOC